Electricity on The Farm.

E. B. Miner, of Oriskany Falls, N. Y., has solved the problem of progressive farming. He has made a success of kid-glove farming and can now do the hardest work on the premises without a backache. The heavy work on the Miner farm, and most of the lighter work too, is done by electricity while the farmer and his good family stand idly by and watch the wheels go round.

There is a little creek running through Mr. Miner's farm, and he has merely put the stream to work and is doing the playing himself. This stream he has harnessed to run a small dynamo, which in turn gives him electric light, heat and power for his home and farm buildings. A small dam of the flow type was built of concrete. The fall is about six feet. A small power house was equipped with a water wheel and a 250 volt generator. The electricity is carried to the house and barn by cables.

At the spacious farm house electricity lights all the rooms, heats a number of apartments; runs the sewing machine and will also be used to cook the food. The cream is separated by electricity and the heavy barrel churn is run by the same power. A small motor drives the buzz saws, the grindstone, the feed cutters, the fanning mill and pumps the water.

The cost of the plant was trifling considering what it does. It runs night and day and requires practically no attention further than oiling twice a week.

There are doubtless hundreds of other places throughout the country where small water power could be utilized and a similar plant installed.

A Happy Family.

A Romance of The Farm-hand.

Lucky clouds flew thither and yonder above the dark green tree tops; thunder and lightning was evident and visible in the air.

The beautiful young daughter swept frantically into the presence of her stern father, who sat engaged in writing a postal card.

"Oh father, a great storm is advancing! It will sweep everything away; it is already growing stronger—see, the feathers on the chickens are blowing the wrong way; and oh, father, the poor farm hand is back yonder in the field with no protection! I am going to him at once!"

"No no, daughter, are you insane? You cannot, you must not, and by the heavens, you shall not go after the farm hand!"

"I will, I will!" the beautiful daughter shrieked, and seizing a last summer's parasol, and sped as if on wings to the stable, where, after saddling her steed, she fled helter-skelter to the scene of the farm hand, where she raised the parasol, and the farm hand hovered under it for protection. Then she brought her horse up and flung him on the animal's back, and raced onward, with the raging storm thundering along not over ten feet behind her. In a fort-night the farm-hand and the beautiful girl were married, and were forgiven by the irate father, after a honeymoon tour through Europe.

Night Riders' Latest Victim Is Poor Woman.

Two plant beds on the farm of Mrs. Woosley, widow of the late Jesse Woosley, in the Gracey neighborhood, were scraped last night. In the center of one of the beds the loose earth was scraped up into a heap resembling a grave. The plant bed destroyers rode to the scene mounted on horses and mules, the tracks left by the animals being plainly discernible, but could not be followed further than the road. Detectives went out with blood hounds but the dogs were unable to pick up and follow the trail left by the horses and mules.

Mrs. Woosley and her son operated a small farm. The beds destroyed were both small and even in these the plants were very thin and inferior.

OLDEST PAPER IN OHIO

The Scioto Gazette is the oldest paper of continuous publication under the same name, west of the Alleghany Mountains. It was founded in 1796 by Nathaniel Willis, grandfather of N. P. Willis, the poet. The older Wilson was born in Boston, and tradition has it, learned the printer's trade under Benjamin Franklin, and was member of the famous Boston Tea Party. As nearly as can be ascertained the Gazette was intermitted for a time but on April 25, 1800, Willis began a new series with Vol. 1., No. 1. and the old paper has gone on continuous since that date.

In addition to being the oldest existing paper west of the mountains the Gazette may fairly lay claim by collateral descent at least being the first paper ever published in the Northwest Territory. In 1793, in Cincinnati, Wm. Maxwell started the Centinel of the Northwest Territory the first newspaper in the Territory. In 1796 he sold it to Edmund Freeman's Journal, and in 1800 removed to Chillicothe where he died in the following year. Willis bought the plant and good will of the paper and incorporated the Journal with the Gazette.

STATE COLLEGE NOTES

Pres. Jas. K. Patterson and the Board of Trustees had returned from an extended visit to various colleges and universities in the North and West.

Prof. A. S. Mackenzie has been engaged to conduct several institutes in Pennsylvania for the coming summer.

The students body and the faculty have manifested unusual interest in literary and athletic features this year. The five literary societies have been very enthusiastic in their work during the whole year.

Kentucky alone, Delaware expected is the only state in the Union that has no state university. Why should this be the case, when a prouder nor more progressive people in any other vital question never lived than the people of Kentucky? Why do we stand idle idle by and see our sister states of far less wealth in natural resources outstrip us in educational advantages.

Situations Guaranteed.

We do not guarantee situations to prospective students in order to get their patronage. Schools of merit do not resort to such dishonest practices. Fake schools "guarantee" situations in order to secure students, because they have no other inducements to offer. Our work is so thorough that a guarantee is superfluous. Business men are so eager to get competent help here that a large percentage of our students take positions before they graduate. See us before making arrangements for your business and shorthand education at some inferior, fake school. We will take pleasure in telling you all about the loopholes in the "position guarantees" of dishonest schools. Catalogue free.
